We are excited to announce our Judge for the Annual Fall Judged Art Show, 2022

Julia Lawing

Julia Lawing is a tenant artist at the ClearWater Arts Center and Studios in Concord, NC.

She earned a BA in Journalism at The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill ('90), which she supplemented with drawing and art history courses. While employed at Savannah College of Art & Design, and later, the Charlotte Observer, Julia pursued art in night classes on everything from stained glass to ceramics and pastels. As a young mother of four daughters, she taught elementary art and served as a docent at the Cabarrus Arts Council Galleries. Julia began oil painting in 2014 and, with that, knew she had found her calling.

Artist statement:

I paint because it engages my senses, my mind, my soul, and stirs a passion in me unlike anything else. My aim is visual poetry: simultaneously elusive and evocative, speaking life to the viewer's soul.

My art exploration parallels my faith: there's no end, but the ongoing reward is a wellspring of revelation that helps me know myself, the world, and my God more fully.
